Following the death, unresolved feelings of anger, guilt, denial, shame, disbelief, and failure may cause dissention with the lives of families and friends for months, sometimes years.

The Suicide Survivor Support Group is open to those who have experienced, or are still experiencing grief resulting from a death by suicide. It is a place where many others can help you in your pain and offers special support based on shared experience. This is a Peer Support Group open to anyone 16 or older who has lost someone to suicide. Meetings are led by a Peer Facilitator.

For more information on this group, please contact (978) 630-6166.

Visit our website at www.suicidepreventiontaskforce.org or visit www.afsp.org and click on “Coping with Suicide Loss” for more support, resources and education.